

Do you want to improve working conditions for early career researchers?

advocate for the rights of your peers and defend them towards policy makers and science and research institutions?

reshape the Swiss academic research landscape to make it more sustainable?

discover behind the scenes of higher education policy in Switzerland?

collaborate with an interdisciplinary team of highly motivated colleagues?

Become actionuni's new co-president

We are the umbrella organisation of academic mid-level staff in Switzerland. By mobilizing to improve working conditions, participating in policy making, and organizing events, we make our voices heard and serve as a contact point for young researchers in need.

To become actionuni's new co-president, following skills are required :

- good knowledge of the swiss higher education landscape and its recent developments
- capacity for the organization and preparation of 12 board meetings, an annual General Assembly, several smaller meetings and exchanges with other stakeholders and partners
- fluency in English and German. Good knowledge of french or italian is an asset
- political vision, endurance and enjoyment in working with others

Actionuni is a non profit organization which receives only small financial contributions from its associated members. None of the delegates or board members of actionuni are paid for their work. This position is also unpaid.

In case of interest, please send a CV and a motivation letter to president@actionuni.ch until November 15th.

For more information, don't hesitate to contact one actionuni's current co-presidents, Laure Piguet (staying in office) or Joanna Haupt (leaving office) at the same address.
